Generation 1

1. Richard Nance-1. He was born 1604 in Christened: 9 Sep 1610 Rosecarnon Manor, St Kerverne Par., Cornwall, England. Fact 1 1620 in Left Cornwall as indentured servant. He died Aft. 1665 in Charles City, Charles, Virginia, USA.

Notes for Richard Nance:

General Notes:

Arrived in Virginia Colony on Virginig Company ship "Johathan" May 1620, at age 16. He was a servant in the household of Sergeant William Sharpe. See VA. Colony Muster Rools of 1624, see Nance Memorial pg. 15, 36, 38, 25

Richard Nance was baptised 1610 in St. Kerverne. Several of those living in Cornwall that are interested in Nance Genealogy say this is the American emigrant. I do not consider hearsay to always be accurate. The fact remains that Richard Nance of Virginia was born 1604, according to official papers of the London Company.

1620 William Sharp sailed from Plymouth, Devon in Aug. on Bonaventure with wife sons (age 2 and 6 mos) (August)

1622 Richard survived the Good Friday Indian massacre ref. Jamestown history

| 1627 | Charles City | Per letter from Martin L. □Pete□ Nance to Walker P. Nance, 4 Dec 1968, Richard Nance would have completed his apprenticeship about 1627 which would have entitled him as a freeholder of 20 a. (originally set aside as public lands under the London Co. charter and referred to as the collodge (college) lands). It is the same section that contained that neck were he lived 1624. Thus it is obvious Richard Nance first started as a landowner in Chas. City, and probably held this and additional land, before he was able later in 1639 to pay transportation for six persons. Notes for John Nance:

General Notes:

About 8 or 9 years ago, I heard my son Giles say that Michael Holland had given his daughter Mary, two Negroes, Patt & Nann. After that time, I heard Michael Holland say that he had given his daughter Mary the same 2 Negroes, & sometime since the wife of said Holland was apprehensive that no gift should be good unless it was recorded. Holland's wife wanted one r_____ to her brother Winn to have the above gift recorded in court. I spoke to the said Winn concerning that affair & he promised he would have it done. I told Mrs. Holland what Mr. Winn had said, and she asked her husband Michael if he was willing that the gift should be recorded & the said Holland agreed to it in Aug or Sep, 1762. But 5 weeks before Michael Holland's death, he, Michael Holland came to my house, & as we sat at dinner in the yard, he said what a fine thing it was to have a small family, for his was so large that he wished that his children were old enough to go for themselves. I, getting up from the table, went into the house. As I stepped out again, I heard my daughter, Elizabeth, say to Michael Holland, what you intend the Blacks shall go to the whites. Yes, said Michael Holland, I have given my daughter Mary 2 & I intend to give Joseph 2. I said to Michael, you don't divide them equally, you should have given Mary a girl & boy and Joe a girl & boy. No, said Michael, Mary seemed to make choice of them 2 & them I have given her. Signed Jan 3, 1764 - John Nance.

Notes for Otway Bird Nance:

General Notes:

Yesterday at the library I was leafing through the History of DeSoto, Texas, book. I noticed an article on one of the founding fathers of our little town . . . Otney Bird Nance. It even had a picture. It seems our small little town was created around the Nance and Penn family farms. A recent newspaper article states that up the road a little in Dallas there is a cemetery (the Wheatland Cemetery) which "holds members of the pioneering Nance and Penn families, among many others. It's adjacent to Wheatland United Methodist Church, founded in 1847 and reputed to be the oldest Methodist Church west of the Trinity River." The little town of Wheatland was swallowed up by Dallas many years ago.

Notes for Frederick Woodson Nance:

General Notes:

Frederick Woodson Nance, born 1771 in Lunenburg County VA, a giant of a man -- 7 feet tall, 260 pounds, first married Agnes Burchett, 19 April 1793, in Granville Co., NC. Clement was supposedly their only child and came to Tennessee. The second marriage was to Rachel Leathers, 26 June 1809. Rachel, born 1782 in Granville Co., NC., was the daughter of William Leathers, who received a 2,000 acre grant in Versailles from North Carolina in 1792. Frederick Woodson and Rachel Leathers Nance had eight children, all born in Granville Co., NC.:

Of these eight only Richard and James remained in the Versailles area. Cyrus went to Pickens, Miss.; William Buckner to Paris TN; Gideon Allen to Tarrant County TX; Agnes and John Wesley to Holmes Co., Miss. All had families except Prudence who remained a spinster.

The coat of arms for the family is "Semper Eadem", or "Always the Same", and is the same as that of the English Queen, Elizabeth. The family had been in England about 500 years before the Huguenot exodus. Name variations from Nance are Nantz, Nans, Nantes. Many large grants of land were received. David for one served under George Washington in the Revolutionary War. There were several as grants usually came for war service or from the English Crown.

Notes for Richard Leonidas Nance:

General Notes:

Richard and Elizabeth acquired the 280 acre farm known today as the "Old Nance Place", in 1833, when the Hill and Leathers estates were up for settlement, which served as a catalyst for many land dealings along the West Fork Stones River-Alexander Creek-Harpeth Valley Creek area in Bedford, Rutherford and then Williamson Counties. The colonial house formerly on the "Old Nance Place" was built by Richard Nance in 1833-34, with large logs and wide cedar planks for floors and replaced a one room log cabin about half mile further back to the west. The colonial house which burned in the 1940's, became home for Richard and Elizabeth; and here all of their nine children were born.

By the time the first four children became adults, Richard had accumulated large acreage and also approximately 100 persons in slave status. Slaves were bought and sold, and deeds to them recorded as if a piece of real estate. Refer to Record Book 9, pages 338-339, in Rutherford Co. Court House for recorded loan of Negro girls, Elleanor and Haldah, valued at $1,000 each, to his daughters, Sarah and Amanda.

As the family grew, Richard anticipated that war was inevitable; purchased land in 1859 in Versailles from William G Hight, who had purchased the same acreage from Williams Jackson the year before; moved to Versailles; left, John W and wife, Julia Ann Jackson at the Old Nance Place; built the log two story store building at the present store location; closed out the old rock building store; moved the family into the new colonial house; and began slowly and systematically disposing of his slaves. The war came; the 24th Tenn Infantry regiment was organized under the big oak trees in front of the log store. Six of Richards sons and sons-in-law served. Life during the war was difficult. By letter son, Frank, advised his father of two choices, "Stay where you are and knuckle under to the Yankee Government," or "Go further west."

Richard remained in Versailles; supported the Confederacy; mortgaged all his 1234 acres; bought bonds and notes to the maximum; housed and protected the women and children in his household; and in 1868 the mortgages were foreclosed and land sold by the court appointed trustee. The Old Nance Place passed to brother James W Nance. The three tracts in Versailles were bought from the court by sons, Frank and John W, for $10,446.00 by debt assumption. In the colonial house under Richard's care all or part of the time between 1861-1868 were: Elizabeth, Sarah Mallard Hill Smotherman, Sarah Nance Jackson, Serepta Nance Hix, Hezekiah Nance (Hix), Amanda Nance Maddox, Elizabeth Nance, Mary B Nance, Lon Nance, Rachel Leathers Nance, and Hezekiah Hill. Also in Richard's care and in the house across from the store built by Williams Jackson were daughter-in-law Nannie Hight Nance and her four children: Yancy, Tabitha, Elizabeth and Fred.

Thus Richard and Elizabeth gambled on the war and lost. A shoe box full of worthless confederate notes and bonds was used by the children to play "store" until the colonial house burned in 1951. The two lived near or with son, John W Nance and family until their deaths at 63 for Elizabeth and 73 for Richard.

Notes for Gideon Allen Nance:

General Notes:

"There was one cow puncher that worked on the Daggett place off and on, that was the worst at starting these fights of anybody I ever heard of. He was one of these picture show kind of cow punchers. The swaggering, showy type. He'd wear his chaps to town, and swagger around like a rooster on parade. The trouble about his swaggering was, that he was able to about call any of his bluffs. He was as good a rider as I ever saw, and a dead shot. He was so good, and careless with it, that he was always getting into hot water with the law here and having to go to Oklahoma. Then, the next time he showed up, he was running from the law in Oklahoma. He was always either running from the law here or the law there. Oh yes, his name was Gid Nance. All the old timers here knew him."

Notes for Charles Palmer Nance:

General Notes:

Charles Palmer Nance was traveling by train as he often did between his home in DeSoto and Add Ran College (TCU) in Thorpe Springs (near Ft. Worth). This day in 1882 he caused quite a stir in the community when he had the train stop in the middle of nowhere. For all the eye could see was nothing but a sea of wheat.

All around the people came out of the fields to see the rare sight and to wonder why the train had stopped. Charles P. was coming to see his sister who lived nearby. He saw the land and liked it and soon settled there.

He later opened a store, was instrumental in naming the town Duncanville and opened a post office there. At one point he was the post master and justice of the peace.

Some years after this he moved to land on a bluff that over looked Mountain Creek and on into the next county. The pioneers called this ridge the Cedar Mountains.

Register Report for Richard Nance

Generation 7 (con't)

When the Civil War started, E. Peyton made a deal with one of his brothers to have the horses ready, and they would slip out the window and ride to Benton, KY where he could join his unit. His brother would bring the horses home and explain to his family. Ervin Peyton was a mounted calvary soldier. He was first in Company A and was captured shortly after he entered. He was supposed to be traded for a Yankee, but he didn't wait. There was a boat loaded with Confederates, and one loaded with Yankees--the trade was to take place the following morning. He walked home and stayed a few days then joined again--this time in Company C. He was sitting on his horse under a tree during the Battle of Shiloh in TN when a shell exploded into the tree killing his horse and causing him severe shock. He always had spells after that--short duration loss of reality. When the war was over, he was in prison in Columbus, Mississippi, I think.

After the war, Allen P. Nance, Ervin Peyton Nance's father, could not own any slaves. They were told they could leave, but many of them chose to stay. Lindy was given to Cynthia and Ervin Peyton Nance as a child. They raised her and she was their house maid. Cynthia was in bad health for years before she died. Lindy's brother, Pete Nance, was given to Henry Balance at Hard Money, Ky. Every August, Pete would come to visit for two weeks. The children loved Pete and Lindy.

Ervin Peyton Nance made the trip to Shiloh, TN every August as long as he could make the trip. All of the Confederate survivors tried to have a reunion here if they were able to go.

Ervin Peyton Nance owned a place about a mile from the present Oak Level Community. He raised sheep and saddle horses. His favorite horse was a blue (mouse colored) horse named LYDA. Also, he was a master carpenter and made coffins for the entire area. People would come tell him a man, woman, or child had died and he would build the coffin accordingly. He was a very conservative, no nonsense person, and he loved to read. He was the father figure for Joe E. Nance, Jr. whose father died when he just turned five years old. E. P. Nance lived with the family of Joe E. Nance, Sr. until he died. He was a Methodist through and through. Lindy went to Oak Level Methodist Church every Sunday with Ervin Peyton and Cynthia. She would sit in the back of the church and no one ever said a word--she was respected and accepted and everybody knew who she came with.

E. P. Nance was a tall straight man with a long white beard. He thought it was important to stand straight, sit still, and pick up your feet when you walk. Joe E. Nance Jr. said he was forever on to him because he couldn't sit still.

EDWIN THOMAS NANCE

Eighty years is the span of the life of this venerable citizen of Graves county, Kentucky, and his career is not only worthy of consideration on this account, but he deserves mention because of the leading part he has taken in business affairs of the western part of Kentucky, where he has been known as one of the leading tobacco growers and farmers. The family is of German descent, but has resided in this country for many years. Grandfather William Nance was born in Bedford county, Virginia, and lived to be a very old man. His son, John Nance, was also born in Bedford county, in 1780, and was educated in the schools of that state. He was a farmer, and at his death, which occurred in 1845, he was recognized as one of the foremost men in that pursuit in the state of Virginia. In 1805 he was married to Martha Estes, who was born in Bedford county, Virginia, in 1787, and her father, William Estes, was a native of the same place and lived to the great age of ninety-eight years. Mrs. Nance died in 1848, having become the mother of a large family. The son, Thaddeus, was a farmer of Bedford county, and died in 1863. S.A. Nance was a farmer of Trigg county, Kentucky, and died in 1895 at the age of eighty years; Albert Nance was a farmer in Bedford county and died in 1863 at the age of forty-five; Benjamin Nance, who was one of the largest wheat growers in Howard county, Missouri, died in 1902, aged seventy-two; Thorp Nance is farmer in Texas; John F. is a farmer in Bedford county, Virginia; Celia Ann married William Burnett, a farmer in Missouri, and both are now deceased; Mary was the wife of Isaiah Wade, a farmer in Bedford county, Virginia, and both are deceased; Lizzie is the wife of Pleasant Wade, of Cincinnati, Ohio; Sarah died in youth; Emeline is the wife of Joel Wright, a Missouri farmer.

Edwin Thomas Nance completes the list of the above-named children. He was born in Bedford county, Virginia, January 17, 1823, and after leaving school engaged in farming. He was actively engaged in this occupation in his native state until 1870, when he came to Graves county, Kentucky, where he is now cultivating a fine farm of one hundred and eighty-four acres, and has been especially successful in raising tobacco.

In 1844 Mr. Nance was married to Miss Sallie Snow, and the following children were born to them: Mary, the wife of Thomas Tinsley, a farmer of Calloway county, Kentucky; Bettie, the wife of William Nance, a painter of Clarksville, Tennessee; George P. is a farmer of Trigg county, Kentucky; John A. is a farmer in Graves county; Kittie is the wife of Henry Jenkins, of Graves county; William Nance is a farmer of Graves county; Belle is the wife of Wickliffe Dawson, a farmer of Trigg county, and Albert T. is a farmer of Trigg county. The mother of these children died in 1891, and in 1895 Mr. Nance married Mrs. Martha Perry, the widow of Oliver Perry. He is a Democrat and a member of the Missionary Baptist church.

General Notes:

Frank Nance helped John C Jackson in the rock store building until the new store was built in the same location as the present one. He became the merchant in the new store until the 24th Infantry regiment was organized. Afterwards the store closed until war end.

After William H Hight swapped his Versailles land and store to Frank's father, Richard, the family moved into the house across the road from the store and remained there until 1875, after Frank died in 1868. Frank (B.F.) Nance and Nannie Hight had four children, all born in Versailles where Otho Nance now lives, two before and two after his war service.

Frank (B F) never regained health after his war service and was the first to be buried in the Nance Cemetery on the Versailles Road. Frank appeared someone undecided about the war issue, although he participated in the battles of Murfreesboro, Stones River and Missionary Ridge after which he was released due to illness.

Notes for George McFall Nance:
General Notes:

George McFall Nance, served in France in an artillery unit. While in France he made friends with a few French families. They corresponded after the war. It is believed that he met certain persons with which he was distantly related.

As a young adult his family moved from their farm near Duncanville to Olney in West Texas southwest of Wichita Falls. They later moved back and repurchased their old farm. During their time in West Texas many of the Nance children married into the Stowe family, including George M.

He was a farmer, worked at the Camp Wisdom Boy Scout Camp adjacent to his father's old farm. He also worked for Brown Cracker & Candy Company before he founded George W Nance & Sons Real Estate in 1932.

Sometime around or in the 1930s he bought Waverly House in Oak Cliff (now Dallas). When purchased, it was a small one bedroom home. Renovations were made to add three other bedrooms. The roof was raised to add a second story to the house.

Waverly House was the site of much hospitality, family fun and mirth. Many kinfolk sent their children to live there in times of sickness and to attend Sunset High School. Southwest Dallas County did not have a high school at that time. Thus, this high school may have the distinction of educating more Nances than any other in Texas. Waverly House was the residence of three generations of Nances while being a place of temporary rest and fellowship for five.

Notes for John L. Nance:

General Notes:

John L. Nance was born at Camp Wisdom Boy Scout Camp. The camp was donated to the Boy Scouts by pioneer John Wisdom. And subsequently was John L's namesake.

John L was raised in Waverly House. During WWII he served in the Navy on the transport vessel USS Randall with the rate of signalman first. He saw action in the North Pacific including Iwo Jima, and Okinawa (were he was injured). He also participated in a secret mission in Japanese occupied China to rescue prisoners of war.

After the war he attended a Junior College in Arlington where he met his wife to be, Marian Seale. After their marriage he transferred to Texas A&M in College Station, Texas. He majored in mathematics. At the time before the general implementation of computers by corporations, mathematicians were hired by various industries to handle computations now routinely done by computers less sophisticated than the one you are currently sitting before.

After A&M, John L went to work for his father at George M. Nance & Sons Real Estate. He later went into accounting

Newspaper article:

A 15 year old Yuma boy drowned Friday afternoon in the east main canal; at the spillway between 16th and 24th streets.

The sheriff's office reported that the youth Parksie Nance was swimming in the Canal with several companions when the accident occurred. The victim was the son of Mr. & Mrs. P.O. Nance 155 21st street.

Nance who had just completed his second year at Yuma Union High School, was last seen alive at approximately 3:20pm, officers said. At 4pm three of his companions - Cliff Bateman, Lynn Baily and James Clark - arrived at the sheriffs office to report that Nance was missing.

FELL OR JUMPED

They said that another youth, Duane Norred, 1840 5th Ave. Was the last person to see the boy alive. Norred reportedly had seen Nance fall or jump into the canal from the bridge over the spillway.

Several boys dived in the water in an attempt to locate the victim but were unsuccessful. The body of Nance was found shortly after officers arrived at the scene.

One of the boys found the victim but was unable to bring him up until the spillway gates were closed. The body was found under the bridge, some 20 feet from where the youth had entered the water almost two hours before. Officers said that the tremendous current at the spillway apparently pulled the boy under the bridge and kept the body from surfacing. Companions of Nance told officers that the boy was a good swimmer.

FUNERAL SERVICES

The body was taken to Johnson Mortuary where funeral services have
